

FIVE SET OFF FOR THE ISLAND

The violent clunk of oar on stove marked time as we pulled relentlessly against the ever-freshening wind.

'How blody long is a fing long row?' I wondered as a cocktail of mutiny and self doubt gripped my guts. As a newbie coastal rower I'd never been so far from shore before, and so close to exhaustion.